

ASOTIN POLICE DEPARTMENT

CHIEF M. RENZELMAN

CITY OF ASOTIN

Door-To-Door Solicitors:

Door-to-door solicitors can provide great products, but there are also risks associated with this type of transactions. Here are some safety tips when conducting transactions with them:

Always ask if they have a business license or solicitor's license, and ask to see it. If they do not, have one, call the police. A business License or Solicitors license is not a guarantee on the product or people. It is just a "permit" to be able to do business or solicit in the city. Be cautious when doing transactions with these types of sales people, as there is no guarantee of their product or services.

If you don't want them at your door, ask them to leave. If they don't leave, call the police. At any time you can request they leave. After you request they leave, it is trespassing for them to not leave the property. At any point you can ask them to leave.

If you do decide to conduct business with them and let them in your residence, there are risks involved with this. Not all solicitors are bad, but there are some that use this as a way to "case" residences. They can see what is in your residence, what type of securities you have, ie alarms, dogs, or locks for example. They can also see what you have that maybe valuable. If they are left unsupervised AT ALL, they can also steal items. They may ask to use the bathroom, and make a side trip to other rooms unsupervised. They can also unlock windows or doors for easy entry later. ALWAYS keep them in sight and watch what they are doing.

If you do finish the transaction, be careful of payment options. If you give them your credit card information, or you give them a check that has the bank routing numbers on it as all checks do, they can access these accounts. Try and do transactions in cash, don't give out personal information; DOB, social security numbers, passwords, card information, bank information, or anything else that may be used for Identity theft.

Be very careful if you are conducting business with any unknown business or people. Not everyone is out for your best interests. If you have any questions, please do not hesitate to contact your local Law Enforcement office. The Public is our eyes and ears, so we don't always know what is occurring unless we are contacted.

Be Safe

Asotin Police Department